Product Description

The Port Liberty is more suited to children who are just beginning to explore playground equipment so would be ideal for a kindergarten or elementary school play area with not much space. There are two different climbers which can be used easily by children who have already mastered basic motor skills and balance. The Spiral Climber gives kids the ability to place their small hands and feet between the rungs of the coil to propel them higher and reach the upper platform. The Carrot Climber has multiple footholds and handholds in fun carrot shapes which allow children to ascend with a little determination. When they've made it to the top of the structure they can enjoy a quick descent thanks to the Wave Slide that gives them a bumpy ride to the lower level.

For creative play there's also a Single Drum to make noise with and collaborate with friends. The structure is outdoor friendly and can be placed under a sheltered area or placed outside in the elements.
